The New York Bill of Sale is an important document that authenticates that the purchased item was the part of a legal sale between a buyer and a seller. The document need not be notarized. This bill serves as a legal document that proves the ownership of buyer after the item is sold. It is useful to present this bill as a part of document in case of accident occurrence. Also, it is often required by the state law in a few circumstances.

Thus, it is necessary for the buyer and seller both, to keep several photocopies of the bill handy as a part of the record. But in case the item is donated, presentation of the bill is not required; however, the donor has to still submit a release of liability to the Department of Motor Vehicle (DMV). Each bill must contain the offer, consideration, acceptance, competent parties and legal intent mentioned as a part of the contract.
