

Apology Letter to Ex Best Friend

Date – DD/MM/YYYY

Dear -----,

A friend in need is a friend indeed and you have been that friend in my life who has always been there for me. No matter what the situation has been, we have together like twins and no one could come between us.

Many people were jealous of our friendship and I believe that this has been the reason that we started having fights and were not able to understand each other. It all happened because ----- (mention the reason). I just could not think of what can be the other side of the coin and misunderstood you.

I would like to apologize to you for doing this, but I hope that you will understand that this was not intentional and I just saw what came in front of me.

I am apologizing to you and still wish the best for you. Please forgive me and cherish the best moments we had together.

I will be waiting for your response and wish that if we can have that bond again.

Yours dearly,
Your name
