

Appreciation letter to boyfriend

Dear Mark,

Of late I have been consistently thinking about you and the special connection we share. I do not think that I could explain it in words perfectly but I wanted to thank you for the unconditional love and support that you have given me in all these years.

I want to admit that I'm at my best when I'm with you and that special feeling cannot be described in words. You taking leaves whenever I was sick just to be with me have actually turned those hard times into memorable moments for me. Thank you for being there and for understanding me so much better than anyone else.

I know that you love wristwatches and so I have enclosed a sports watch with this letter. Hopefully, you like it and do message me once you receive this letter and gift. I know writing letters is not trendy nowadays but I think once in a while we must write letters to each other. Love you so much, hope that our bond continues to grow with each passing month.

Yours,
Margaret B.
