Dear Mary,

I am writing this letter in response to a recent advertisement I saw at the findjob.com website for a business intelligence analyst; I would like to be considered for this job position and attaching the CV with this letter for your reference.

I am a professional at interpreting huge volumes of data and identifying current business trends. I am also great at presenting my research crisply and using infographics and statistics.

I have business skills that I feel would be a great asset to your position. My ability to develop, design, test, and deploy BI solutions will be a great addition to the company. Moreover, I am a candidate who is driven to succeed, self-motivated, and curious to learn new approaches.

I have experience working in the Financial, Customer Service, Insurance, and Sales environment. I have been a great communicator for many big projects in the past.

I am very keen to join your company and am looking forward to bringing an experienced Business Intelligence Analyst on board who is willing to give their best and become a great asset to the company.

I hope you will look at my application and call me for an interview.

I am looking forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,

Daniel K Taul
